Bombers Victimize RIT Nine 28-4; 19-Hit Attack Sparks Home Victory

The Ithaca Bombers rolled to their fourth straight win of the season last Saturday as they remained undefeated by slaughtering Rochester Tech 28-4, in the season's home opener.

Skip Lyne about to be tagged out in close play at home. Valesente watches tag play. Action took place on South Hill Field last Saturday. IC won 28-4.

This weekend the Ithaca nine will be visiting Hartford and Holy Cross. Both contests will be broadcast over the school radio. The Hartford clash will begin at 3:30 on Friday, while game time for the Crusader match is 2:00.

Coach "Bucky" Freeman utilized all his players except for a few pitchers as his unit belted out 19 hits against the R.I.T. hurlers.

Shortstop Tom Terranova led the squad at the plate clubbing three for five, including a double. Don Fazio also cracked a two-bagger.

After the scoreless first inning, the Bombers began blasting away and also took advantage of nine R.I.T. errors to score seven in the second inning, one in the fourth, a dozen in the sixth, two in the seventh, and six more in the eighth.

Southpaw Bill Darling, senior, started for Ithaca, went three innings, gave up two runs, but still was credited with the win as his teammates piled up a 7-2 lead by the time he was lifted.

Sophomores Dick Lindamer and Dick Donlick also tossed three innings each.

It was R. I. T.'s first game of the season.

Figueres Lectures On Latin America- U. S. Role in World

"The Russian theory of government is not tyranny," stated Jose Figueres, former President of Costa Rica in a lecture at Cornell University last Wednesday night.

Mr. Figueres explained that tyranny is merely a control device to eventually perpetuate their political theory.

Figueres was elected President of Costa Rica in 1948, resigned in 1949, and was reelected in 1953 by a two to one majority, and remained in office until 1957.

Currently President of the National Liberation Party, Figueres stressed the importance of United States aid to the Latin American countries. This aid should be in terms of a business offer rather than a gift he said.

According to Figueres, "the existing dictatorships in the last 25 years have been overthrown in hopes to adopt Western democratic culture and independence. They are essentially of the materialistic philosophy and desire to live in the same way Americans do."

In addition to economic gains, the United States stands to gain prestige and the support of Latin American countries. Figueres indicated, "they are ripe for incorporation into the brotherhood of the Western nations."

The Alliance For Progress is an attempt to strengthen U.S. and Latin American relations through trade agreements and control of prices for trade goods. Figueres suggested the AFP is welcome, but, "perhaps a belated acceptance of Latin American ideas."

The lecture was the first in a series, on the position of "The Western Hemisphere and the Cold War."

Teacher Image Is Lessened!

The recent strike by New York City teachers won a pay increase and at the same time, reduced the vision of the teacher from a dedicated hard working exponent of knowledge, to the ordinary white collar worker struggling to make a living.

Collective bargaining through Union representatives produced results which proved the state can afford these pay increases without any serious strain on the budget. However, in rising as a Union body, teachers have left themselves open to criticism in several respects.

As students in college, in the educational curriculum they realized that teaching is not a well paid job, when compared to other professional positions. Idealistically, these same students argued that their reward came from an inner satisfaction of imparting knowledge into the lives of America's children and a nine-month work year.

Teachers are public servants and in this role they should not allow themselves to be organized into unions. They should not strike and force others to strike and close our schools. The connotation which "Teacher" conveys is that of an educated, higher level individual. When he steps out of this meaning he reduces this connotation permanently. The right to bargain, or petition for higher salaries or working conditions is indisputable. The questions are teacher responsibilities, the methods which these people utilize, the extent of their actions, and its effect upon the innocent student.

Salary increases are based upon credit hours of study in College as well as years of teaching experience. Teachers (as well as doctors, lawyers, etc.) with advanced, supplemental education are entitled to more money since they are abreast with the times and more aware of student needs. Teachers who are unable to make their way on basic salary have several choices available to them. They may increase their salaries through summer jobs, tutoring positions or supplement their salaries through additional education courses which add to their value as educators. Teachers who do not attempt any of these outlets are a liability to their profession and the salaries of these "educators" is absorbant considering the amount of work and interest they exhibit.

The argument for "better teachers through higher salaries" is fallacious. High salaries should be paid to hold the good teachers of our students, not to entice mediocrity into the profession.

Mr. Kalamotousakis will study at Harvard University this summer and not in Russia as stated in the April 26 edition of the Ithacan.

Final plans for Junior housing next fall have not been decided as this edition went to press. A decision will be reached when final enrollment figures are established. The April 19 edition of the Ithacan erroneously stated that Juniors may live outside of College Dormitories in September.

Commentary

by Doug Trenner

Unless there is some change of a drastic nature, the next four years should see the gradual decline and eventual disappearance of the radio and television major on the Ithaca College campus.

Since I began my first semester at Ithaca College as a radio and television major, I have noticed a sharp downward spiral in spirit and quality in the radio and television department. It might be called a professional slump. I will be criticized for not having the right to pass judgment, but I do have the right to express my opinions. The decreasing enrollment in this department in the last four years helps authenticate the above prediction. There has also been a drastic number of students who have transferred out of the department or out of school. Although enrollment has increased for next year, the percentage increase in enrollment over last year in radio and television is below that of the other departments of the school. Why has this occurred?

It is granted that Ithaca College has some prestige among educational broadcasters, but in commercial broadcasting the name Ithaca College means virtually nothing. Its prestige has grown to some degree, but far below what should have been expected since its inception. If we have no prestige, how can we attract students, who expect a department such as ours to have the prestige normally attributed to any college with a unique radio and television operation and curriculum?

No wonder it is so difficult to attract important men in the industry to give a talk here. When they do appear, the lack of students at the talk is a testimonial to the fact that something is lacking in the department. Commissioner Ford's appearance was a complete secret to some radio and television majors because the department did not announce, with any vigor or preparation, the expected arrival of this important personage. What kind of impression do you, the reader, expect important men, such as Ford, have of the department when they leave after such a meagre turnout? What kind of impression do you think they convey to their associates?

There is no clear cut policy on a recruitment program to enlighten high school students that there is a chance for preparation in broadcasting at Ithaca College. There is a lot of pre-college talent in this field that could be channeled our way with a modicum of effort.

How many of the non-radio and television majors even know what the inside of the radio and television department looks like? I would hazard a guess that 75% of these students have never seen our plant. If the rest of the school is ignorant of our facilities, we make no impression whatsoever in the cities and towns they represent on campus. It would be useful to have a radio and television week and invite all the students to pursue the operation of the department. Other departments might take notice of this suggestion.

The ignorance about the department around the campus, the ignorance in the commercial broadcasting industry concerning the school, and the lack of any policy on new student recruitment all adds up to a need for a re-evaluation of the goals of the department if it is to survive the next four years.

Next week: Programming At The R-TV Department.

This article will be one of a series of three articles dealing with radio and television at Ithaca College. The views expressed by this writer are not necessarily the views of The Ithacan, nor do they represent the views of Ithaca College in general.

Feelings of expectation and enthusiasm among I.C. students are mounting as Spring Week-End 1962 rapidly approaches. A myriad of activities have been planned by the hard-working Spring Weekend Committee to insure all individuals who participate on May 4, 5, and 6 an enjoyable and unforgettable weekend when "I.C. On Saturday, May 5th, the gates of "Fantasyland" will open at 11 a.m. The float parade, entitled, "Cartoon Capers" will be unique in that at least 14 floats have entered, the largest parade in the history of Ithaca College. The parade will include three bands, as well as a public appearance of the 30 nominees to Spring Weekend Court who will be driven in 6 convertibles. Starting from Titus Avenue, the procession will swing to Geneva Street, up State Street past the reviewing stand at the Ithaca Hotel, to Aurora Street and down Buffalo Street where it will disband at the annex. Another cup and a $25 cash prize will be awarded to the float judged on physical construction.

From 12:30-1:30 a variety show entitled "101 Delapidations" will be presented in the Little Theatre.

Later on in the afternoon at South Hill, Ithaca College will play Hartwick with the title "Casey at the Bat."

Saturday evening "Tomorrowland" will be encountered at a semi-formal dance entitled "Journey to the Stars" from 10-2 p.m. in the S.U. Rec. Room. The Billy Butterfield Orchestra will provide musical entertainment. To heighten the evening the royal family will be announced, and the winners will accept their positions on Spring Weekend Court.

Beer will be served to those guests who present identification at both the Friday and Saturday evening dances.

On Sunday, May 6th, the weekend will be climaxed in "Adventureland" at a picnic entitled "Light in the Forest" to be held at Frosh Camp where box lunches will be provided. Bobby Comstock and the Counts will be featured at this event. Bus transportation will be available to and from the camping area. At this time a wonderful weekend will come to a conclusion.

Harriers Hustle To Trounce Roberts Wesleyan by 90-40

The Ithaca College varsity track team started its season on a winning note as it trounced hosting Roberts Wesleyan of Rochester last Saturday by the score of 90-40.

Winning ten of the fourteen events the outcome was certain from the start. Pacing the bombers were Captain Ted Bedell who won three events. Buddy Brooke and Warren Albrecht who chipped in with two victories apiece. Bedell's firsts came in the high and low hurdles and the broad jump. Brooke copped the 100 and 220 yard dashes while the powerful Albrecht out-heaved all opponents in the shotput and the discus. Other Ithacan victories were by Dave Downer in the 440, and Gary Gregorka and Steve O'Dea who tied for first in the high jump. Downer was also a member of the victorious mile relay team.

Coach Isadore "Doe" Yavitts felt his harriers did particularly well in view of the limited practice they put in because of the adverse weather conditions in Ithaca. He hopes with the coming of the warm weather the trackmen will be able to put in sufficient practice time in order to have a successful season.

Varsity Schedule

The varsity track team and the freshman baseball squad play home this Saturday while the varsity baseball crew and the tennis unit are on the road.

The trackmen will host Harpur College at 2:00, while on the South Hill baseball diamond the freshmen will take on the Syracuse University yearlings at 3:00.

The IC senior batsmen visit Hartford College Friday and Holy Cross Saturday. The varsity tennis team has a match at Hobart.

Fast, Decisive Action Is Trademark Of Casagrande

by Mariam Jacobs

Upon assuming the office of President for M.E.N.C. in New York State this past December, John Casagrande formulated immediate plans for an annual M.E.N.C. newsletter that would include the activities of all the twenty-five state chapters.

The fast and decisive action is typical of John, who just last week became Student Council Treasurer on the Progressive Party Ticket.

The newsletter, which is beginning its first year, is only a small part of the job John faces. With the counseling assistance of Mrs. Celia Slocum and Mr. Howard Hovey, of State M.E.N.C., John is responsible for attaining a closer relationship between the state chapters and the senior N.Y.S.S.M.A. organization, which represents teachers in public schools and colleges. In an effort to achieve this rapport, John hopes to place a student representative on the state senior organization executive council as a non-voting member.

In addition, John's duties as president require that he preside at meetings of the executive council, which meets several times a year in Rochester, New York.

Besides his new role as treasurer, Mr. Casagrande, a junior and a Music Education major, is active in many other I.C. activities. As a member of Phi Mu Alpha, he has been the 1961-62 Recital Chairman. As a clarinet major, he is a member of I.C.'s Concert Band.

In the past, he has been chairman of the Lecture Committee, featuring Sunday lectures by faculty members, and he has been active on committees for Fall Weekend 1961. This year Mr. Casagrande is the Assistant Chairman for Spring Weekend.

Aside from his school activities, John enjoys a basketball or baseball game as a form of relaxation. A native of Bangor, Pennsylvania, John plans to teach for a few years before starting his work toward a Master's Degree in Music.

J. C. Music

By Lois Chaber

An important function of the I.C. chapter of M.E.N.C. is playing host to visiting groups in order to become acquainted with outstanding musical organizations at the elementary and secondary school levels. Wednesday, April 4, the 150 member group sponsored a concert by the Ithaca High School Choir in the Music Hall. Mr. Vito E. Mason, the conductor of the choir, had previously rehearsed his group in the hall just before Spring Vacation. All the music students had been invited to observe the 80-voice choir and Mr. Mason's rehearsal techniques.

The program consisted of Vivaldi's "Gloria" and the choir was assisted in its performance by professor Frank Eldridge who accompanied them on the organ along with high school students Miss Elsie Evett, cellist, and Miss Alpha Hockett, oboist.

Although a function of the School of Music, the demonstration-performance was open to the public.

A myriad number of opportunities are still turning up every day for those senior music students who are now, of necessity, quite career-minded. School administrators from Greece Central High School (Rochester, New York) were here last Friday to interview candidates jobs in the field of vocal music at the elementary and junior high school levels.

An interesting opportunity for experience in a foreign land is being offered simultaneously with a career by the International College, Beirut, Lebanon. The college, founded in 1891, is located near the American University of Beirut and is a junior college for boys.

The school has an opening for September, 1962 for one man to take over the music department and plan the program. There is a real need for the development of glee club and choral work but instrumental requirements are also desired in the applicant.

The offer includes a 3-year contract and round-trip travel provisions.

On Monday, April 2, the 48-voice I.C. touring choir entertained at a meeting of the Women's Club of Ithaca. The performance took place at 2:30 in the Women's Community Building. Don Craig conducted the group in a half-hour to forty-five minute perusal of the choir's basic tour repertoire.

A String Clinic was held at the Music Hall on Sunday, April 15 at 2:30 p.m. The program featured Paul Rolland, violinist from the University of Illinois.

Application for Frosh Camp Counselor must be turned into Dean Clarke's office by 5:00 p.m. Friday, April 27.
